- SVG elements with `graphic role` attributes must have an accessible name.

SVG elements with `role=img`, `role=graphics-document` or `role=graphics-symbol` need an accessible name provided by the SVG `title` element or an ARIA label.

- The element `button` must not appear as a descendant of the `a` element.

An interactive control nested inside another interactive control is not voiced correctly by screen readers, and its name role and state is ignored.

- The visual label must appear in the accessible name of links and controls.

People who use speech control rely on being able to select elements using the visual label displayed on screen. If this isn't part of the accessible name, they can't select elements by name.

- Ensure that text and background colors have enough contrast.

Some users find it hard to read light gray text on a white background, dark gray text on a black background and white text on a red background.

- The contrast ratio should be 3.0 or more for 18 point text, or larger
- The contrast ratio should be 3.0 or more for 14 point bold text, or larger
- The contrast ratio should be 4.5 or more for all other text

WCAG 2.2 AA 1.4.3

The text color to background color contrast ratio after composition is:

- 🟡 The CSS outline or border style on this element makes it difficult or impossible to see the link focus outline.

Do not remove the default outline style, and change any border styles to avoid obscuring the focus outline around focusable elements. See `:focus-visible` for more information. Using a border or outline style that obscures the focus ring causes problems for keyboard-only users in:

- Chrome (obscures the focus indicator on links, buttons, dropdowns and range controls)
- Firefox (obscures the focus indicator on links)
